

Storyweaver Dates and Details, 2022/23

First weekend: 10 – 11 September 2022

There is always a blank before a beginning

We consider beginnings in many forms, the relationship between silent space and our voice, how to take safe direction, how to nurture and express what gift may be forming within. In our stories and our telling we will explore how something may come of nothing... how an empty hand may fill with abundance, how a fist may close on empty air. We encounter three allies who will travel with us – Clarity, Daring and Grace.

Second weekend: 8 – 9 October 2022

Leaf Fall

We explore aspects of our own story lands, our own preoccupations. We learn how stories and tellings may bend or break. We explore landscapes of fading light and shade as we search for the nuances our tale-telling voice may hold. We plant our feet in a story. We learn from the Grace of trees in autumn as we encounter holding on tightly and letting go lightly in our telling.

Third weekend: 26 – 27 November 2022

Bone and Bleak

We explore choice and transformation in story and in telling. As we head towards a pared-down winter landscape we invite Clarity to illuminate our tale. We explore strip-bone words, and compare stories for hearth and highway, for the deep cave and the bright horizon. We visit the cross-roads where our ways meet.

Fourth weekend: 4 – 5 February 2023

Ending as beginning

We explore newness with our storytelling tongues. We draw up our own imaginative glossary and maps showing where we have travelled and where we stand. With Daring travelling with us and inklings of what is to come we look ahead to new story paths. We celebrate the twists in the path, the bends in the road, the boldness of new beginnings and the many forms those new beginnings may take.
